It is widely recognised nowadays that safety performance and operational excellence are inseparable. Both require a strong improvement culture, supported at all levels of an organisation and backed up with behaviours that ensure that performance meets the required levels.

World-class safety comes from effective leadership, excellence in communication and a compelling vision that is articulated and shared throughout the entire workforce. It comes from having the right behaviours, backed up by the very best tools and equipment.

14 & 15 OCTOBER 2014 · ANANTARA EASTERN MANGROVES HOTEL · ABU DHABI

We are pleased to announce the second edition of OpEx – Operational Excellence in Oil, Gas & Petrochemicals. OpEx 2014 will follow on from the huge success of OpEx 2013 – which was held at the St Regis Saadiyat Island in Abu Dhabi last December, sponsored by Takreer, Tasnee, DuPont, Honeywell, Invensys and AVEVA.

This high-level conference, organised by EPC, was the very first and original event to be held in the Middle East region on the topic of Operational Excellence for the Oil, Gas and Petrochemicals sector. The previous conference in 2013 was strongly supported by end users from throughout the Middle East, North Africa and Europe.

OpEx 2014 will include a new emphasis on corporate strategy excellence, sustainability and safety, as well as the 'People', 'Assets' and 'Technology' themes covered in last year's event.

The Main Themes of the Conference:

PEOPLE

How to achieve organisational excellence

ASSETS

How to maximise reliability, whilst minimising operating costs – both in existing plants and in new plant design
